A Wagon Load of Eloping Families.

The old fashioned prairie schooner with its broad stretch of tarpaulin and with its band of tire is no longer a familiar sight upon the streets. This morning however, one of these a rolled heavily over the bridge drawn by two tired looking mules, and decorated with all manner of household movables. And as it drew up on Washington avenue just west of Sixth street, the reporter tackled the long, sailow, emaciated looking man who uncoiled himself from about the front seat, and demanded of him what cheer.

"Umph," said he interrogatively, while a woman's head decorated with a red bandanna protruded past the flap of the canvas and eyed the scribe suspiciously.

"Bound for Kansas?"
"No sir; Arkansas. We're all the way from Kane County, Ill., and we're headin' for the Red River kentry."

"You seem to have a good deal of a family," continued the wandering Peri, referring to the menagerie like sounds issuing from beneath the tarpaulin, which indicated a diversity of opinion between several warlike children. The woman's head went back beneath the cover, something like the terapin's when his attention is attracted to his tail. Resonant applications of a female palm to exposed human cuticle followed, and sobbing and grief took the place of war.

"Yaas, fact is I've got two families."

"Two families?"
"Um-hum, he granted affirmatively. You see Samantha there's got five young ones and I've got three and they ain't quite shook together yet. Way back in Kane County we'd known each other for some time. Samantha there, her husband wasn't no 'count; he got to hog stealin' and then he got into the pen at Joliet, and my wife war poor and sickly, and so I shipped her on to the folks in Indiana, and Samantha and I started for Arkansas. As we kem by Joliet she went and saw her old man, Hez Ward, and he gev her his consent."

"So you're elopin'?"
"Well, we're sorter elopin'."

"What is your name?"
"Si Hopwell."

Hopwell is a man of fully 50, and Mrs. Ward is past 40. Neither of them would be called handsome by the fastidious, and this lover like escapade of theirs is a singular freak which is almost without parallel. It is seldom that a man loves a woman to that extent that he will consent to run off with her five children in addition to the fair one.—St. Louis Post Dispatch.

SECTION 1.—Be it ordained by the City Council of Salt Lake City, That no person, firm or corporation shall, within the corporate limits of said city, directly, or indirectly, in person or by another, sell, barter, or otherwise dispose of, or permit to be bartered or delivered, for or on his account, any vinous, spirituous or fermented liquors without a license first obtained according to the provisions of this Ordinance.

SEC. 4.—No license granted under this Ordinance shall be assignable or transferable, or authorize any person or persons other than those named in the license, to carry on the business therein specified; and no person or persons shall carry on the business provided for in this Ordinance at any other place than the one designated in such license: Provided, That the City Council may, on application by the parties interested, authorize the assignment of the license, or a change in the place of business.

SEC. 5.—The Mayor, whenever in his judgment the peace, good order or safety of the city or its inhabitants shall require it, and on Municipal County or Territorial election days, Fourth of July, Decoration, Thanksgiving and all Territorial and National holidays, may, by proclamation, forbid the sale, giving away, or in any way disposing of vinous, spirituous or fermented liquors for any given period, not to exceed twenty-four hours at any one time, and any person who shall sell, barter or give away any vinous, spirituous or fermented liquors in contravention of such proclamation shall, on conviction, be fined not to exceed ninety-nine dollars for each offense, any license to the contrary notwithstanding.

SEC. 6.—Any person obtaining license under this ordinance shall be subject to the following regulations: He shall faithfully observe and keep all ordinances in force in relation to liquor during the period of such license; he shall not keep open his bar, house or place for the sale of liquor, nor sell, give away, nor in any manner deal in by himself, servant or other person, any vinous, spirituous or fermented liquors after the hour of 10 o'clock p.m., or before the hour of 6 o'clock a.m., on any day of the week; he shall prohibit all gaming, with or without betting, by means of dominoes, cards, dice or other articles, every game of chance, and every other description of gaming or gambling; and on the proclamation of the Mayor for all liquor establishments to be closed, he shall discontinue business during the period of such proclamation. SEC. 7.—If any person shall sell or otherwise dispose of, or keep any house or place within the corporate limits of this city, for the purpose of selling, or otherwise disposing of vinous, spirituous or fermented liquors, without first having obtained a license therefor, as herein provided, he shall, on conviction thereof, pay a fine of not to exceed ninety-nine dollars for the first offense, and if convicted of a second offense, a fine of ninety-nine dollars, and be imprisoned not to exceed thirty days; and for each subsequent conviction a fine of ninety-nine dollars and imprisonment not to exceed one hundred days.

SEC. 8.—Any person violating any of the provisions of this Ordinance, for which no penalty is herein provided, shall on conviction pay a fine not to exceed ninety-nine dollars for each offense.

SEC. 9.—All ordinances and parts of ordinances relating to the sale of vinous, spirituous or fermented liquors, in conflict herewith are hereby repealed: Provided, the repeal of such ordinances shall not affect any rights accrued or liabilities for fines and penalties incurred; but all such rights and liabilities may be maintained and enforced the same as if said ordinances and parts of ordinances had remained in full force.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla, For Purifying the Blood.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillington, and Mandrake, with the Iodides of Potash and Iron, makes a most effectual cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflictive. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions on the skin are the appearance at the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose secretion they disorder. SO AND DESTROY. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulceration of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions, and Eruptive Diseases of the skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Bores, Bolls, Tumors, Tetters and Salt Sores, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Pains in the Bones, Side and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhoea arising from internal derangement and uterine diseases, Dropsy, Trachoma, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure health returns.
